Short Bio:

Dolores Crazover, founder and CEO of DEI & You Consulting, is a leading expert in diversity, equity, inclusion (DEI), and inclusive leadership. Dolores is also a multilingual public speaker covering all aspects of DEI and has spoken at major events hosted by entities such as Women's Leadership Network (Estée Lauder Companies), and HUB Institute (Sustainable Leaders Forum).

She works with international organizations - small to large - to support and equip them with the right resources to establish DEI workplaces. Dolores is a graduate from the Harvard Business Leadership Program and a Cornell University-certified Diversity and Inclusion Consultant. She is also an Executive Board Member of the Young Presidents' Organization Diversity & Inclusion Hub, a member of the launch team and Diversity & Inclusion education committee for LEAD Network Europe's BeLux.

Long Bio:

Dolores Crazover is an international entrepreneur and the founder and CEO of DEI & You Consulting, whose mission is to unlock team potential and maximize organizational growth by building more diverse, equitable and inclusive workplaces in which all can thrive.

Dolores began her career as a microbiology engineer, with degrees in Applied Microbiology and Biological Engineering. She is curious, bold, and passionate about people empowerment, growth, and innovation.

After moving to New York City, she developed a family office as General Manager, investing in disruptive companies. She also worked as a strategy innovation consultant for both start-ups and established international enterprises, helping them achieve their full potential and increase revenue.

Now based in Brussels, Dolores has founded DEI & You Consulting out of her strong desire to make a lasting impact and contribute professionally to a more diverse, equitable and inclusive society. Her ultimate aim is to inspire the best in leaders and organizations and help them grow by implementing a long-term equitable and inclusive change in culture, thus inspiring others to do the same and triggering an incremental, yet global shift.

Born and raised in France to Congolese (Kinshasa) immigrant parents and having lived seamlessly across different contexts and continents, Dolores leverages her personal and professional experiences to help individuals cultivate an inclusive mindset and organizations foster an inclusive climate. With honesty, empathy, and great attention to detail, Dolores brings positive change to teams and promotes a sense of belonging.

Dolores is a graduate from the Harvard Business Leadership Program and is a Cornell University-certified Diversity and Inclusion Consultant. She is also a strategic Board Member of the Young Presidents' Organization (YPO) D+I Hub and a member of the launch team for LEAD Network Europe's BeLux chapter as well as its Diversity and Inclusion Education Committee.
